APRIL POSTAGE UPDATE

We need $20,000 again this year to cover the expenses of postage, labels, and returned Newsletters. For the past 28 years, we have been able to raise this money through generous donations from our subscribers and advertisers. We hope we can continue to do this in 2007. At the end of March, we had received $6,521--we have $13,479 to go. A $4 donation pays for each subscriber's postage; a $5 or more donation puts your name in the Newsletter as a contributor; and a $20 donation will put your name in the Newsletter plus you will receive a Neighborhood Watch sticker and a Surf City keychain. And, remember, since we are a non-profit organization, your donations are tax deductible.

HYPD JAIL

The Huntington Beach Police Department maintains a Type I city jail facility which houses pre-trial arrestees on both felony and misdemeanor charges. It can house 56 males and 16 females. In addition, the jail has facilities for 4 female and 8 male, sentenced inmate workers.

The jail is staffed by 18 professionally-trained detention officers that have successfully completed the California Department of Corrections' STC-certified Corrections Officers Basic Academy. Detention officers undergo an extensive selection process to ensure the highest quality of service to the community. The selection process includes written, oral board, physical, and background investigations; drug testing; psychological examination; and polygraph. In addition to the Academy, detention officers receive current and continued training consisting of all aspects of corrections.

The primary goal of the detention officers is to maintain the safety, security, and well being of the community and the inmates in custody. Among the staff are five senior detention officers that are directly responsible for the daily operations of the facility. The senior detention officers are charged with leading a team of detention officers in the booking, care, and screening of inmates entering the facility. All senior detention officers have successfully completed the California Department of Corrections' STC-certified supervisory training.

Also we have four licensed nurse detention officers. The nurse detention officers have the training and perform all the duties of the detention officers. Additionally, they perform the critical duties associated with being medical professionals. The nurse detention officers complete medical screenings of inmates, take blood samples for drunk driving and narcotic-related arrests, and collect DNA samples for the Department of Justice's Offender Data Base.

The professional detention officers perform a series of duties that are critical and essential to ensuring law enforcement operations in the community. They complete the booking of each inmate arriving in custody. They search, photograph, and fingerprint the inmates. The detention officers ensure the health and well being of the inmates through a series of medical questions and continued observation. They inform the inmates of their abilities to contact family, employers, and legal council, and assist the families with information about those we hold in custody as well as visitation. Additionally, they serve three meals daily, provide hygiene products, and ensure inmates' basic needs are met. Detention officers also handle the release (bail, bond, or citation) and/or transport of inmates to court.

The staff of the Huntington Beach City Jail is proud of the service provided to the community. In addition to detaining those arrested by the Huntington Beach Police, the jail contracts and holds inmates for 9 different Federal, State, and local law enforcement agencies. The Huntington Beach jail averages over 6,000 bookings annually.

For questions or inquiries regarding the Huntington Beach Police Department Jail, call 714-536-5691.

PAY-N-STAY INMATE WORKER PROGRAM

The Huntington Beach Police Department offers a Pay-N-Stay program for individuals given the opportunity to serve their sentence in an alternate sentencing program. This is a fee-based program available to qualified men and women who have been convicted and sentenced for a misdemeanor offense to serve time in a city jail.

The Pay-N-Stay program is an opportunity for men and women to work or attend school in the community while serving their sentences at night and weekends. Checkout times are established for morning releases and return for check-in in the evening based on the individual sentence. Times are normally between 6:00 and 8:00 a.m. with a return time 12 hours later. Work release inmates may also participate in court-ordered treatment in the community during their stay.

The Pay-N-Stay program is an alternative to serving a sentence in a county Jail. With permission of the sentencing court, men and women may select to serve their sentence in the Huntington Beach City Jail as inmate workers. Sentences are served on consecutive days, to include weekends.

Pay-N-Stay inmates are housed separate from all other inmates and have minimal contact with the non-sentenced inmates. Pay-N-Stay inmates assist with minor chores during their stay. These chores include cleaning, laundry, trash removal, etc. Applicants to these programs that are unable or unwilling to follow the rules and instructions given by jail staff, will be dismissed from the program.

The Huntington Beach City Jail is limited in size and ability to house all types of inmates. Due to these limitations, we do have some restrictions. In order to ensure that we are able to meet inmate needs, all applicants must submit an application, complete a medical questionnaire, and be interviewed prior to receiving approval to enroll in one of our programs. Once an application is received, the jail staff contacts the applicant and schedules an interview to discuss the programs.

The Pay-N-Stay program costs $125 for the first day and $75 for each additional day for the remainder of the sentence. Accepted applicants are required to make the first week's payment prior to the start of their sentence. Inmates that have sentences beyond one week are required to make payments the 1st and 15th of each month until all payments are collected. Once the sentence is successfully completed and all payments are collected, the inmate will receive a letter of completion.
