Fireworks Statistics

Don't be one of the 250 people who go to the ER each day for fireworks related injuries during the month of July. Be smart, be safe!

In just a few short days we get to celebrate our nation's independence. But before you light off any fireworks this 4th of July holiday, take a look at this flier and remember why fireworks can be so dangerous. Some people insist they won't get injured while setting off fireworks, but it's also important to think about not hurting anyone else! If you want to report illegal fireworks, please call 714-536-LOUD (5683) or report online at <http://hbpd.apexforms.net/fireworks/>, but if someone has been injured by one, call 9-1-1 right away. Be safe (and sane) on this Independence Day!

Staking out an area to see the Parade

In order to get that great spot, up-close to the excitement, you have to follow these guidelines. Such as in past years, staking out areas for the purpose of obtaining a viewing location for the Fourth of July Parade may not occur prior to 7 a.m. on Wednesday, July 3.

It is important that no materials used to reserve public areas shall block or interfere with pedestrian access or vehicular traffic or block those portions of sidewalks used for pedestrian access prior to 6 a.m. on July 4. In fact, any items placed prior to that time will be removed. Items placed on public property (including parking strips) are left at the owner's risk and do not create a guarantee that the "staked out" area will remain available to the person or persons who marked off the area.

When marking off sidewalk and roadway areas, non-defacing material must be used. Any adhesive material, including adhesive tape, is prohibited for use in reserving space for parade viewing. This includes, but is not limited to the use of tape or other adhesives on trees, poles, and signs. All materials used to designate "stake out" areas must be removed by 3 p.m. on Thursday, July 4. With these rules in mind, you can be prepared to find that perfect spot for the entire family.

Streets Closures

For all residents and visitors of Huntington Beach, the 4th of July parade route for 2019 will require the closure of PCH from Goldenwest to Beach starting at 5 a.m. on Thursday, July 4. The parade will officially begin at PCH and 9th, going from 9th to Main where it will proceed up Main through the downtown and residential areas, ending just past Yorktown. The parade begins at 10 a.m. and lasts approximately two hours. Staging areas will take place on PCH and portions of Walnut, Olive, 8th, 9th & 10th.

Through traffic on PCH will be detoured at Goldenwest and Beach up to Garfield. PCH will be completely open to traffic no later than 2 p.m. Residents and guests coming into the downtown area off of Goldenwest should enter at Palm or Orange. City beach parking is only accessible at Beach Blvd. and PCH and gates open at 5 a.m. Twin Dolphin will be closed from 5 a.m. until no later than 2 p.m.

The Pier will be partially closed to the public all day and completely closed at 5 p.m. Fireworks will be launched from the end of the Pier. The fireworks will start at 9 p.m. Please remember to allow extra time for the congested traffic to clear. PCH will be heavily congested prior to, during, and especially after the fireworks show. Motorists can expect significant delays. Those that park in the parking structure and beach lots can expect to spend at least 90 minutes waiting to exit due to the volume of attendees. Please be patient and plan accordingly.

Parking

Parking at the Main Promenade parking Structure will be $30 (cash only) all day flat fee. Pay as you enter and no customer validations will be honored. Yearly and monthly pass holders will not be charged, but parking is NOT guaranteed.

In the City Beach Parking Lot, parking will cost $30 per space that the vehicle occupies and no spaces may be purchased for chairs, tables, or any other activity. The only entrance to the parking lot will be at Beach Blvd. and Pacific Coast Hwy. The gates will open at 5 a.m. in the morning of the Fourth and the public will not be allowed to line up in front of those parking lot gates until after midnight. Until that time you must find a legal parking space. Additionally, any vehicle, including RV's, attempting to remain in the parking lot from July 3 will be towed out of the parking lot at the owner's expense. People will not be allowed to occupy or place chairs and barbecues on the beach or in the parking lot until after 5 a.m., which is the beach curfew, on July 4.

For more information about the Fourth of July festivities, check out the website at www.hb4thofjuly.org

Only a Few More Days to View Frau Fiber's Mission in America
at the Huntington Beach Art Center!

There is only four more days to view Frau Fiber's Mission in America—the Huntington Beach Art Center's solo exhibition featuring artist Carole Frances Lung and her alter ego Frau Fiber—before it closes on July 6!

Frau Fiber explores fashion and textile production and consumption through garment production, installations, and performances. Throughout the exhibition, guests have been participating in the "Tailor Made Pop-Up Shop" by having their clothes in need of tailoring, altered by Frau. Patrons spin the "Wheel of Wages" to determine the cost to have their garments tailored. This exhibition is not to be missed! Huntington Beach Art Center Presents
Rietveld & Roberts: Masters of Surf Art
July 27 – August 24

The Huntington Beach Art Center is pleased to present Rietveld & Roberts: Masters of Surf Art, a retrospective of two of the most influential artists in surf art in Southern California. Rick Rietveld is known for his pop surrealism, while Phil Roberts is recognized as a modern day da Vinci. From paintings and sculptures to movie illustrations and surfboards, the exhibit will feature a variety of works, including prized surfboards created for Surfboards on Parade, a Rotary Club of Huntington Beach participatory art experience.

The Rietveld & Roberts: Masters of Surf Art exhibition will be on view from July 27 – August 24, 2019. The public opening reception is July 27, from 6:30-9 pm.

Kate Hoffman, Executive Director at the Huntington Beach Art Center states: "This truly remarkable exhibition is an honor to share at the Art Center. Rick and Phil have been friends and supporters of the Huntington Beach arts community for many years. We are delighted to now share the fruits of their professional rivalry." Rick and Phil came into the industry at the same time, both highly competitive and needing to get to know each other. Their synergy and overlay with design brought about a constant competition and support for each other's creativity. Now describing themselves as "brothers from another mother" these artists have been associated for over 40 years.

The exhibition program includes Art for Lunch (August 8, 11:30 a.m. – 1:30 p.m.), a free event, open to the community. Patrons are invited to bring their lunches into the galleries while learning more about the exhibition. Guests bring their lunch, drinks and desserts are provided! Artisan coffee tasting with French-press demonstrations provided by Coffee Alchemist, a gourmet artisan coffee roasting company specializing in small hand-roasted batches of espresso based coffees. The Art Center will also screen surf culture classic, Endless Summer during the HBAC Film Night series (August 15, 6:30 – 8:30pm). Visit the Huntington Beach Art Center website for more information.

PUBLIC WORKS

2019 City Drinking Water Quality Report Now Available

Have you ever wondered what is in your glass of water or where it comes from? Well, finding out what's in your water is as transparent as water itself. The 2019 City of Huntington Beach Drinking Water Quality Report is now available on the City's website. As in previous years, the City water system continually meets or exceeds all State and Federal drinking water standards. Regulations require water agencies to prepare an annual water quality report and release it to the public by July 1. The City has completed the 2019 Report and an electronic copy is available on the City's website at: www.huntingtonbeachca.gov/2019DWQR.

Announcement postcards are being mailed to all residential and commercial water users throughout Huntington Beach. Hardcopies are also available at public counters at City Hall, City Libraries, and the Senior Center in Central Park. For further information or to request a printed copy to be mailed to you, please contact the Public Works Utilities Office at (714) 536-5921.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT DEPARTMENT

Research and Technology (RT) Zoning Project

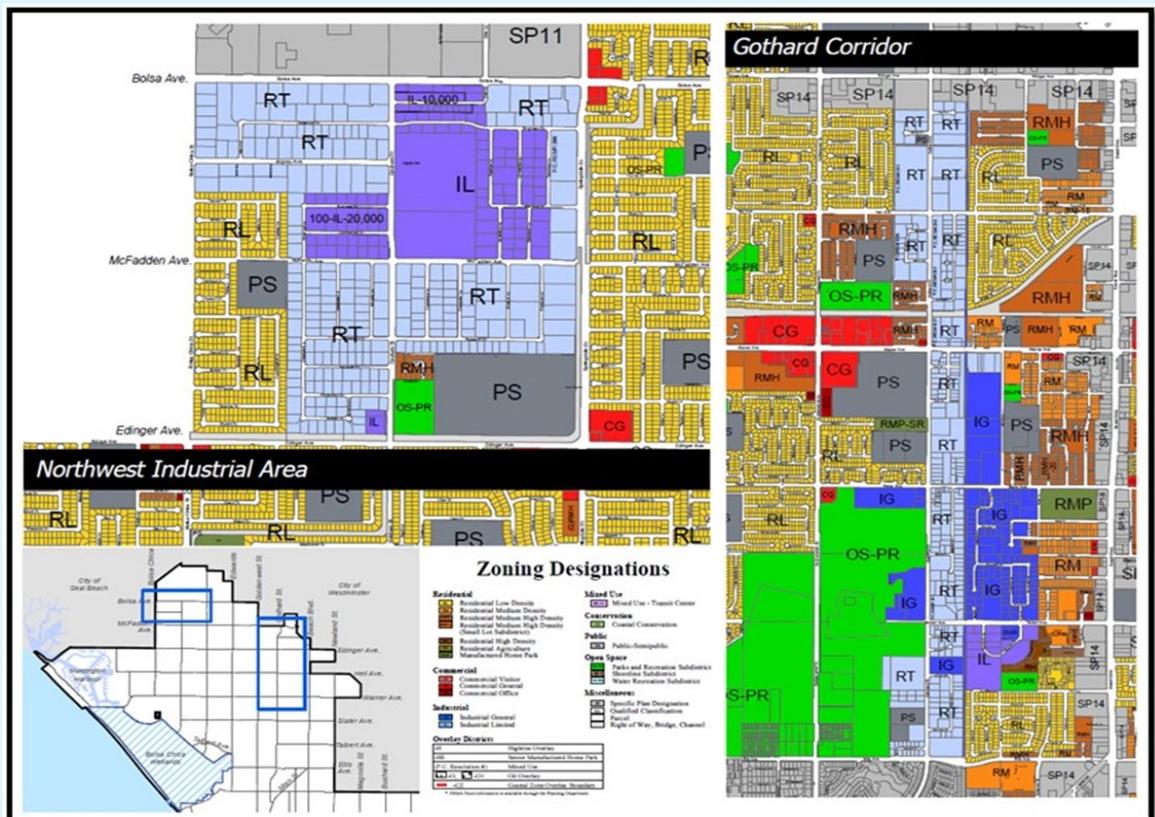

The City is working on a new Research and Technology zoning designation along the Gothard Street corridor and within the Northwest area of the City. This new land use designation was established as part of the General Plan Update that was adopted by the City Council in late 2017 to permit a wide variety of nonresidential mixed-use development in existing industrial areas that are undergoing or poised for transformation to support changing employment demand and ensure that the City of Huntington Beach is positioned well for the future.

Planning Commission Public Hearing July 9

The Planning Commission will hold a public hearing on July 9, 2019 to act on a recommendation of the proposed RT zoning project that will be forwarded to the City Council for final action. The Planning Commission public hearing will be held in the City Council Chambers at 6 p.m. The City Council public hearing will be separately notice and is tentatively scheduled to be held in August 2019.

About the RT Zone

The new RT development standards are envisioned to fill the gap between commercial uses and pure industrial uses and expand how both existing and new uses can ‘flex’ their business models within their building space. Ideally, the new RT development standards will easily allow new start-up businesses to develop and grow from initial conceptualization stages all the way through to full-fledged successful operations while remaining in Huntington Beach. Future ‘RT Flex’ uses will primarily retain the industrial/manufacturing/warehouse base that remains vital to the overall health and balance of the community’s economic needs, but will allow some level of flexibility to accommodate commercial uses. More information can be found on the City’s Website: <https://www.huntingtonbeachca.gov/government/departments/planning/major/major-projects-view.cfm?ID=82>

OFFICE OF BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT

Pacific City Business Roundtable

Last Thursday, Mayor Erik Peterson and City Staff had a follow-up meeting with businesses from Pacific City and DJM Management to discuss how to enhance businesses, connect to Main Street, and to continue building a strong working relationship. Topics discussed included how to address homelessness, communication, creating physical connectivity between Pacific City and Downtown, and how to attract visitors year-round from our local community and visitors. Staff and Pacific City will continue to address a few follow-up items. The Business Roundtables are an on-going effort to create communication between business sectors (aerospace, active sports, custom autos) or locations (Sunset Beach, Main Street, Pacific City) and the City to improve the business environment.

Chanel West—Success Story

Recently, a client was referred to City of Huntington Beach Homeless Task Force by the Huntington Beach High School District. The school officials discovered she was homeless and sleeping in her car. After meeting with the student, the Homeless Task Force connected her and her family with Interval House. The student and family were immediately accepted into Interval House's Domestic Violence Emergency Shelter Program. The student and family received a broad range of services at Interval House to help them transition into safety and stability, including counseling, parenting and support groups, domestic violence education, as well as assistance with legal needs and childcare.

Once the student started working, she and her two young children were able to move into their own 2-bedroom apartment thanks to the Huntington Beach Tenant Based Rental Assistance Program (TBRA) and Interval House. During her time with the TBRA program, Interval House advocates worked with the client to improve her personal and professional skills, and move toward self-sufficiency. She has since received a promotion and will now be able to renew her lease and move forward on her own. It's been one year, and the client has been able to maintain her housing and employment, and is now ready to be independent. The student and family have expressed that she will be forever grateful for all the assistance, and will continue to be involved with Interval House, saying: "Interval House and the Huntington Beach TBRA program gave me EMPOWERMENT. They helped me to accomplish my goals and take back control of my life."

The TBRA program is funded through HOME Federal funds and is a program that teaches the clients self-sufficiency.
